VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD.

AGENTS FOR INDIA:—TREACHER AND CO., LTD. BOMBAY, SIMLA, AND POONA.

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and achievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste or overstrain of modern life. Sleeplessness, tremblings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, bearing-down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhaustion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c.; restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out, "used up," and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE.

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease, wherever seen and in whatever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck. It improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners. Registered Trade Mark "VETARZO." Legal proceedings will be taken against persons pirating

COMMON SENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A NEW medical work on the causes and most scientific and effectual means of self-cure ever discovered for nervous exhaustion, depression of spirits, want of zest and energy, &c., with practical observations on marriage and full directions for removing certain disqualifications that destroy the happiness of wedded life. It also treats on urinary derangements, secondary symptoms, stricture, &c., and no sufferer should fail to procure a copy. Post free in plain envelope on receipt of Postal Order Sixpence, from THE VETARZO REMEDIES CO., Gospel Oak, London, or of Agents for above medicines. Price 10 annas Post Free

GOVERNMENT PAPER.

The market has declined to 95-3 ready, 95-5 forward.

BULLION.

On Saturday morning bar silver in London, both for ready and forward, was unchanged and New York also closed steady.

Locally silver market opened at Rs. 74-2-0. London market remained steady but private wires reported "quiet and dull," which caused our market to be weaker. Speculators had done a considerable business at lower rates, but prices having advanced they bear heavy losses. To-day being the settlement day for "Tejt-mundi," speculators were free sellers, hence prices declined by 1 1-4 per cent and closed at Rs. 72-12-0. As London market remains steady there is some hope of prices being up.

Gold market remained quiet, upcountry and local demand seemed meagre and price remained unchanged. Sovereigns were in moderate demand and prices were steady. By this mail gold worth £21,000 and sovereigns £80,000 have been shipped.

COTTON.

On Saturday morning Liverpool was 1 to 2 points down, New York remained unchanged and New York futures closed also steady.

Our market at Colaba was dull and demand from the exporters and mills for ready both seemed very poor, and prices remained unchanged.

Liverpool opener advised 1 to 2 down, market for New Crop was easier and there being few sellers prices declined by Rs. 2 to 3.

Business in good Broach was done in the morning at Rs. 371 but sellers being more declined to Rs. 368 at the close.

A. L. CARTWRIGHT, Capt.,
Adjt. B. V. S.

Major-Gen. Blair Thomas Reid, late of the Bengal Staff Corps, has died at his residence, Mastrick Hall, Bournemouth, at the age of eighty-five. He was born in 1825, and obtained his first commission in 1841, and his lieutenancy in 1845. He served during the Punjab campaign of 1848-9, and was engaged throughout the siege operations before Mooltan, including the storming of the heights on Dec. 27 and 28, 1848, and afterwards at the battle of Goojerat. For his services he obtained mention in despatches, and received the medal with two clasps. He became a colonel in 1872, was placed on the retired list in 1877, and in 1878 received the honorary rank of major-general.

The "Baptist Handbook" for 1911 records, for the fourth consecutive year, a decrease in the membership of the Baptist churches in Great Britain. There are in the United Kingdom 3,080 churches associated with the denomination, with a total baptised membership of 418,680, a decrease of 3,775. As in each of the three preceding years, the decline is ascribed chiefly to the reaction from the Welsh revival, which apparently has not yet spent its force. The churches provide seating accommodation for 1,462,640 worshippers, and there are 576,448 scholars in their Sunday schools.

THE WEST IN THE EAST.

MR. PRICE COLLIER, author of "England and the English from an American Point of View," contributes the first of a series of articles on the above subject to the January number of "Scribner." These articles, too, are from an American point of view, for the writer thinks that it is the American's business, nowadays, to know as much of the internal and external conditions of the British Empire as possible, and to study these conditions from an American point of view for his own benefit, even, if for no other reason, as next to his own affairs, those of Great Britain are of most importance to him. The reason does not appear plain, until we hear Mr. Collier's views as to the mission of his country. According to him it is not Germany which will pick up the White Man's Burden should we lay it down, but the United States of America. "Should Great Britain lose India, lose the Suez Canal, lose the supremacy of the sea, become another Venice, Spain, Holland or Denmark, the one hundred million inhabitants of the United States would find themselves with new and far heavier burdens. We are no longer troubling ourselves as to whether an American book will be read, since it has become a patriotic duty for the American who is blessed with the opportunity, to study the social, moral and economical conditions of the very people, who, less than a century ago, good-naturedly laughed out the question: 'Who reads an American book?' Times have changed; we have changed." So there you are. There is no need for our schools to teach German in anticipation of events. All that is necessary if we would prepare the way for our successors, is to accustom the Indian ear to the American nasal twang? English "as she is spoke" in the States will still be the official language. Mr. Collier is somewhat sensitive on the point. "Tell me no more of the American twang," he writes. "It is distressing if you please, but having travelled many days in the atmosphere of the English voice, I much prefer the rank infidelity of the American whining twang to the guttural, not to say catarrhal, sing-song of Anglican vocal conformity. Some of the more piercing English voices may be likened into a diminutive steam-whistle suffering from bronchitis"—a very silly remark, by the way, though intended to be smart. Some of the more piercing English voices probably belonged to excitable, hysterical female fellow-passengers, who irritated Mr. Collier on the way out.

The first article deals with the way out, though there are sundry digressions into a variety of subjects and altogether he does not appear to have enjoyed the trip. The first thing that struck him, he says, was that there seems to be very little free trade in this journey to Bombay. "The Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company practically monopolises the passenger traffic. I was informed there was some arrangement with other companies which left the P. and O. Company a monopoly. As a consequence of this British gastronomics have full play." If Mr. Collier wishes to be taken as an authority, he must verify his information before giving it. It will never to do offer his fellow-countrymen mere hearsay. "I was informed" will not do. However, he was displeased with the P. and O., and the company and the cheap passage movers may like to hear what, in elegant diction, he has to say:—"I have eaten stewed dog with the Sioux Indians in our North-West; I have eaten indescribable stuff in Mexico; I have lived for weeks in the middle of summer on a warship off the coasts of Cuba and Porto Rico on canned food; I have, I believe, eaten rats in Manchuria; I have, alas! over-eaten in Paris; I have laboured with the stodgy, heavy food of English country inns and no harm has resulted; but when I landed from that P. and O. steamer at Bombay, my stomach was in tears." This is probably intended to be funny, for American literary humour is made up of exaggeration of both fact and language. But he continues that it is a fact that on that same steamer on her way to some of the hottest weather in the world, in the Suez Canal and the Red Sea "there was only one kind of mineral water to be had and that only in pints? Can pig-headed stupidity go further?" Evidently Mr. Collier does not hold it truth with them who sing "Cold water is the noblest drink that man to man can bring," but we undertake to say that when he landed in Bombay, he could console himself with as vast a variety of alleged mineral waters, and of as varied degrees of purity, as can be found in the rest of the civilised, or partially civilised world. "No wonder the P. and O. are losing their trade," he observes, waxing still more indignant over his pint of mineral water, and forgetting that only a minute ago he has stated that the Company has a monopoly also that the reports of the Company show no falling off. But he was very angry, the more so, because there were egg and coffee stains on his tray cloth at chota-hazri through the carelessness of a solitary steward.

"Why not go by some other line?" he asks himself, again losing sight of the alleged monopoly. "I will be frank, also, in my admiration," he proceeds, "and say that when I travel with my women-folk on the water, I am happier to think that Americans or Englishmen are in command. Both they and I will have a fair chance and the American or the English captain will not be found among the saved if their passengers are not saved too." Mr. Collier got a foretaste of the East before he left the quay at Marseilles. There were English, Indians and French exploiting them selves. The Indians, three of them, doing one man's work and physically awkward, loading and unloading under the governing finger of a silent English officer. Half a dozen French girls dancing the can-can, and the French claim this frivolity as marking a higher civilisation. "In India we are to see," he proceeds, "a civilisation old when the French were in skins. There, too, ambition is dead and three hundred millions are powerless in the hands of a few Englishmen. Perhaps civilisation always ends by giving up the problem of life as insoluble and settles down to the studied frivolity of Paris, or to the calm despair of India." The first article of the series seems to promise diversion, if not illumination, both as regards ourselves and the Indian. Mr. Collier is an avowed admirer of John Bull, but he is not painfully polite towards our women. Luck was against him, clearly, as regards his fellow-passengers and he may travel far before first impressions are rubbed off. He speaks of some of his fellow-passengers—"a number of women, some young, some of that uncertain, twilight age, who are going out to be married. It was one of the features of travel all through the East, I found. On almost every ship, under the wing of the Captain, one met one or more of these women going out to marry men, whose duties did not permit them to go in search of their brides. So far as I could see, the protection of the Captain was altogether unnecessary. If one may judge of the loneliness of the bachelors in the East by the brides who go out to marry them, it must be distressing." That is really very rude and should suffice. But Mr. Collier ruminates further: "There are more than a million more women than men in England alone; the women outnumber the men in Scotland also; only in Ireland is there anything like an equality of numbers. Such a wealth of choice would lead, one would suppose, to a certain Æsthetic discrimination, but apparently in these matters the East has the effect of hurrying the white man, though in turn the East is not hurried by him." Yes, we may expect these articles to attract attention, for besides these pungent little paragraphs, we find one of the first conclusions Mr. Collier comes to—that the Eastern world is not impressed by our much-variated civilisation; it looks upon it as an attempt to make men comfortable, in a life which men ought not to love.

THE GROWTH OF GERMAN CITIES. WITH remarkable promptness the result of the Census of December 1st, has been published, the organisation of the statistical service having been improved again. The returns prove that the number of large cities is considerably greater than in the beginning of the century. There are now seven cities with more than half a million inhabitants; Berlin, Hamburg, Munich, Dresden, Leipzig, Cologne, and Breslau. That means an addition of two to this class since 1905, and of five since 1900. The second class may be formed of the cities of more than 200,000 and less than half a million inhabitants. Of these the Census of 1900 counted eleven that of 1905 fourteen; the present figure is sixteen. Above 100,000, but less than 200,000 inhabitants were returned from 19 towns in 1900, from 22 in 1905, from 24 in 1910. Altogether the number of largest cities rose from 32 in 1900, to 41 in 1905, and to 47 in 1910. More astonishing still than this increase of the number of big cities by about fifty per cent. appears at the first glance the growth of the population in some of them. But it is to be remembered that the rise is not only due to the excess of births over deaths and to immigration, but in some cases also to the absorption of formerly independent suburbs. Saarbrucken, for example, was a medium-sized city of 27,000 people, five years ago, if it returns now 104,000, it owes the larger part to the extension of its precincts over neighbouring communities. A really astonishing, increase of the population in "American" proportion, we notice in some of the suburbs of Berlin. Rixdorf numbered 90,000 inhabitants in 1909, it has now 236,000. In the same time another flourishing suburb, Wilmersdorf, arrived from 31,000 to 110,000 inhabitants.

This rapid growth of the boroughs in the immediate neighbourhood of the capital accounts for the comparative small increase of the city itself. Berlin had already 2,040,000 inhabitants in 1905; it has 2,064,000 now. That is equivalent to an increase of only a half per cent. while the whole German Empire shows a growth of about seven per cent. In some wards of Berlin especially in the Centre, where wholesale houses and places of amusement have superseded the old dwelling houses, a considerable decrease is noticeable, the population having moved to the outlying wards or to the suburbs. A large increase is, however, still going on in the workmen's quarters of the East and North-East of the City. For the Municipality this change is a matter of great anxiety. For the wealthy rate-payers prefer the western suburbs. If, we compute the population of Greater Berlin, i. e. the capital and its suburbs, we arrive at a population of 3,700,000 inhabitants half a million more than in 1905. The growing importance of the 47 largest cities is evident from the fact that more than one-third of the whole increase of the population is due to them. They have now one and two-thirds million inhabitants more than five years ago, while for the whole of Germany the increase amounted to four and a half millions. As we find the same rapid increase for nearly all towns between 20,000 and 100,000 people, we arrive at the conclusion that the open country will show a comparatively small increase when the total will be known. But it is not probable that again some Eastern provinces of Prussia will have districts with decreasing population as twenty years ago. For the parcelling out of large estates is in good progress, the condition of agriculture is flourishing and there has been little emigration to America. The principal drain is caused by the attraction, which the big cities exercise over the young generation of the open country.

AMERICAN PENSIONS. WASHINGTON advices tell us that one of the last acts of the present Republican Congress will be to increase the pension list, which is already so high as to constitute a severe strain upon the public resources. Instead of decreasing as time passes since the wars, it appears the pension list has gone up. It reached its highest mark, for the time, in 1893, when it stood at £33,000,000. There was afterwards a decline to £28,000,000, but last year it reached nearly £33,000,000. The present House Committee on Pensions has agreed on a bill which will increase the expenditure to £40,000,000 annually by increasing the service pension rate. Under the proposed law the applicant will not be obliged to furnish proof of disability. Every honourably discharged soldier who served not less than ninety days in the Civil War or sixty days in the Mexican war will be entitled to a pension on reaching the age of 62. The present rates are raised about £1 a month all round. When it is remembered that the Civil War began 50 years ago and the war with Mexico 64 years ago, the continual increase in the amount of pensions and in the number of pensioners is surprising and lays the Republican Congress open to the suspicions of jobbery and bidding for popularity. Owing to the activity of agents the number of pensionors has steadily increased from 85,986 in 1865 to 946,194 in 1909. Many of these pensioners never actually served in the field though they were called to arms, and very many are in no need whatever of the money. Old-age pensions have not yet been introduced in the United States. If they were, probably it will prove economical.

THE closing balance of gold standard reserve on 30th September, was £19,008,365.

THE Indian Telegraph Department has issued a notice stating that all lines to Colombo are now clear.

THE marriage which had been arranged between Captain W. H. Dickinson, I.M.S., and Miss Baldwin will not take place.

THE Select Committee on the Factory Act has made good progress during the past week, frequent meetings having been held.

PLAGUE is reported from various Mofussil cities of Madras and fears are entertained that the outbreak is spreading generally.

NEWS received from Persia shows fewer interruptions on the telegraph lines which, it is to be hoped, implies less disorder in inland districts.

DR. THORNHILL, Chief Presidency Magistrate, has fixed the 19th instant, for the deposit of Rs. 5,000 by the "Hitabadi," under the Press Act.

CAPT. T. F. OWENS, I.M.S., Acting Chemical Examiner and Bacteriologist in Burma, is deputed to proceed on duty to Madras, to visit the Chemical Laboratory there.

RANGOON will shortly have visits from the aviators now exhibiting their machines in India. The arrangements are not yet quite complete.

IT is understood that Lady Baker, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, whose health has lately not been wholly satisfactory will leave for England, on Thursday, the 9th instant.

A GANG, of notorious denuders of the Government Reserve Forest, in Palghat, has been arrested, red-handed and has been remanded. This is considered very creditable to the Joint Magistrate and the District Forest Officer and the Forest Ranger.

THE Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab returned to Lahore on Saturday evening, recent rains, it is understood, having prevented his contemplated trip to Balloki where His Honour was to inspect the Level Crossing Canal Works now being constructed, as the whole tract near Balloki is under water.

MR AND MRS. JOHN REID and Miss Meta Reid will sail from London for Bombay, on January 27, per the steamer "Arabis," and the marriage arranged between Mr. Harry Dresser and Miss Meta Reid will take place here in February.

THE Press Association says:—"Under the new reign the practice of former times will, it is understood, be reverted to in the matter of the issue of honours. Of late years it had become the custom not to give political honours at the New Year, it being found more convenient to confer them on the occasion of the late King's official birthday in June and his actual birthday in November. King George's birthday being early in June, future honours lists presumably will issue on that day and at the New Year. The coming official list of honours will not, it is understood, be available for publication on New Year's Day, which is Sunday, but will be kept back in order that they may be in the Monday morning papers throughout the country."

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

THE PEACE OF EUROPE.

Austrian Politics.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT).

PARIS, DEC. 31.

THE report, emanating from Berlin, of a rapprochement between Austria and Russia with an approaching visit by the Austrian Heir Presumptive to take part in the Russian Imperial hunting parties at Skiernievice finds no credence in Vienna in well-informed political circles. Similar scepticism is displayed towards the report in the same connection to the effect that Count Berchtold, Austrian Ambassador at St. Petersburg, will be appointed as successor to the Foreign Minister, Count von Aehrenthal. The "Neue Freie Presse," which has made inquiries in competent quarters, hears that the report is devoid of foundation. The abovenamed paper makes a point of contradicting the idea that the report about an Austro-Russian rapprochement was communicated through Berlin. It says in its evening issue.

"It appears quite out of the question that in the event of Austria Hungary seeking an understanding upon concrete questions with Russia she would require any intervention. In the same way the report that Count Berchtold will visit Berlin for the purpose of promoting an understanding with Russia, appears groundless." Commenting upon a shooting party which has been organised on the Russian Imperial preserves at Skiernevice, to which some members of the Austro-Hungarian Imperial family, including, it is reported, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, have been invited to meet the Grand Dukes Nicholas and Sergius of Russia, the "Novoye Vremya" publishes an outspoken article directed primarily against the policy of Count von Aehrenthal. The journal expresses the belief that the necessary sequel to the gathering at Skiernevice will be the removal from responsible positions of persons who have been shown to be implicated in forgeries endangering the peace of Europe. In another article dealing with the proposed fortification of Fiushing, the "Novoye Vremya" declares that Russia, not being directly interested in the matter, looks upon it from an objective point of view. "Holland," says the journal, "is acting under pressure from Germany, and it would be quite natural, if the Powers guaranteeing Belgian neutrality were to enter a protest against a measure preventing the fulfilment of the trust."

M. DESCHANEL'S OPINION.

At the opening of the next session, a debate on France's foreign policy is to take place in the Chamber, and, in the meantime, M. Paul Deschanel, who has drawn up the report on the Budget of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs for the Deputies, has been asked by the "Temps" for the opinion on the situation. In the course of his reply, M. Deschanel makes special reference to England. "If we turn our gaze towards England, we find that the most clear-sighted men—Soldiers like Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener, sailors like Lord Charles Beresford, Unionists like Mr. Balfour and Lord Lansdowne, Liberals like Mr. Haldane, Socialists, even, like Mr. Blatchford—point out with increasing energy the contrast between the policy of Great Britain who has for the first time in her history become in some sort Continental and her system of defence which has remained insular and agree in recognising the need for an effort. And if on the other hand, we look at Russia, what a cause of weakness once again would it be for the Triple Entente, if, at the moment when our allies are recovering their position in Europe, fresh complications were to arise in the East, or if new changes in the balance were to occur. France has a great European duty to fulfil—and here I do not speak only of the maintenance of peace, since even in times of peace, as recent history shows, relations between the Powers may be modified, and a nation, although remaining the same, may, in reality, be weakened or diminished when others grow stronger or larger around her. I would speak of a policy precise and firm enough to foresee all eventualities—their number is not infinite—to avoid surprises, and not only to spare the country false directions, but to endeavour to spare them to others whose presence, clear-sightedness, and strength are of importance to the independence of Europe and our common greatness." And M. Deschanel concludes thus: "So let us and our allies be strong and united; let us incessantly strengthen France materially and morally, so that, amid all the possible combinations of the future, she may, in the plentitude of her independence and dignity, place her genius at the service of right."

AUSTRIAN POLITICS.

The Austro-Hungarin Delegations were opened on Thursday, this time at Buda-Pesth, as the last session was held in Vienna. For the first time in the forty years' existence of these Delegations, the Emperor omitted personally to address the Throne Speech to the assembled members. As his Majesty's physicians strongly urged the possible danger of the winter journey to their illustrious patient, the Monarch yielded to their persuasions, and remained in Vienna. On this occasion the Emperor entrusted the task of greeting the delegates to the Heir-Presumptive, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, it being the first time for the Archduke to assume such a function in connection with any Parliamentary body. As is well known, the relations of the Heir Presumptive with Hungary are of the coolest possible nature, and it is hoped, therefore, in Hungarian political circles that the national relations will assume henceforward a more cordial character.

The Throne Speech delivered by the Archduke declared, in a few words, that the relations of foreign countries to the Monarchy were extremely satisfactory. The only other notable remarks concerned an allusion to the increased military demands closing with the following sentence: "The navy needs a grant for large supplies to render it equal to the accomplishment of its task, in view of similar preparations on the part of all the other Powers." In the succeeding addresses, the Austrian President, Dr. Barneiter, and the Hungarian President, Count Augustus Zichy, expressed to the Archduke the willingness of the Delegations to meet the increased military and naval demands so as to strengthen the international position of the Monarchy. Count Zichy, however, strongly emphasised the unfavourable material circumstances of Hungary owing to the heavy financial cares which oppressed the country. At the opening of the sitting of the Austrian Delegation, Count Latour presented a petition from the Austrian Naval Association concerning the full equipment of the navy. The petition prays that the naval programme shall be fixed for ten years, and also for the building of sixteen first-class battleships. During the sitting of the Austrian Delegation, stormy scenes were caused by the speech of the Delegate Masaryk upon the forgeries in the Belgrade trial. M. Masaryk violently attacked Count von Aehrenthal, saying that he had at first denied the connection of the Austrian Legation at Belgrade with the Wassich forgeries produced in the Friedjung trial, whereas the Minister himself has now acknowledged that Wassich had intimate relations with the officials at the Legation. M. Masaryk declared that the results of the Belgrade trial were crushing both for Count von Aehrenthal and Count Forgach. This called forth hisses from the pan-German and Christian Socialist Delegates, who hurled abuse at the speaker. Several of the Slav Delegates demanded liberty of speech for their countryman, who continued speaking through the uproar. He declared that, as he had not said all that he had intended, he would continue his examination of the affair in the full sitting of the Delegations and that he would never rest until he had seen Count von Aehrenthal vacate his post. Count von Aehrenthal emphatically reaffirmed his previous statement that Count Forgach, the Austro-Hungarian Minister to Servia, had never had anything to do with Wassich. This statement, moreover, he said, had been officially communicated by Count Forgach to the Servian Government. It had been ascertained that subordinate officials of the Legation had received confidential communications from Wassich, who had pressed them on them. The connection with Wassich was, of course, broken off when it was proved that his communications were worthless. Wassich had recently demanded money, and when he was refused, had threatened to make revelations. He was, however, repulsed by everybody, and when he attempted to intimidate the Austro-Hungarian Legation in Belgrade, Count Forgach reported the matter to the Servian Foreign Minister.

FORTS AT FLUSHING.

The newspaper "Le Soir" publishes on account of an interview with M. Kuyper, Dutch Minister of State, who declared that Holland had the right to construct a fort at Fulsning, but that the opposition was strong enough to bring about the failure of the plan. The articles which had appeared recently in the "Independance Belge" and the "Temps" had had the effect of winning over to the project a number of those who had formerly been opposed to it, and who now protested against foreign interference. The Minister added that Holland would act in conformity with her treaties in time of war, and would make known the interpretation which she put on them, according to the circumstances. M. Kuyper asserted that the letter which the German Emperor is alleged to have written to Queen Wilhelmina in 1904, concerning which a discussion arose lately in the States General between himself and M. Patyn (Liberal), never existed. A new Minister of War would, in M. Kuyper's opinion, adopt the same point of view as his predecessor.

ESPIONAGE TRIAL.

The sentence passed at Leipzig on Lieutenant Brandon and Captain Trench has attracted very great attention in Germany, and the comments in the newspapers show that not only the authorities but also the public, attach extreme importance to it. Both the authorities and the newspapers appear, in the first place to take great credit to themselves for the circumstance that the punishment inflicted is so moderate, and every effort is made to point out that the English officers are not criminals, and that their entire action, both in seeking to obtain information concerning Germany's coast defences, and in their demeanour before the Court, they have acted as gentlemen. It is also pointed out emphatically that the honour of neither is stained. Liberal newspapers, such as the "Vossische Zeitung" and the "Tageblatt" go so far as to say that the probability is that the English officers will be liberated when they have passed a few months in honourable custody, perhaps on the occasion of the Coronation of King George V. This view is, however, not generally held, and the Chauvinist newspapers demand that the full term shall be served, if only to preclude the possibility of the officers remembering the facts they have gleaned, and supplying the Intelligence Department of the British Admiralty with information invaluable to it, but seriously detrimental to the interests of Germany. The German newspapers trust that the revelations made in the course of the trial will, in so far, tend to a betterment of the political situation, in that they will convince the British public that the idea of an invasion of England by Germany is purely chimerical. Satisfaction is felt in the circumstance that, while only a Lieutenant Helm, a harmless tourist, fell into English hands, the German authorities have caught redhanded two genuine English spies, intelligent men specially trained and adapted for the purpose, who have indirectly proved that the English naval and military authorities are deliberately making preparations for landing troops on the German coasts. The "Cologne Gazette" is glad, if only for this reason, that full publicity was given to the proceedings.

"The German people and its responsible leaders," it declares, "wish to avoid any war in so far as is compatible with honour, and if it arms itself this is done in order that it may be fully equipped to meet any danger at any time. The proceedings in the Supreme Court must have convinced every impartial man that we cherish no aggressive plans, and if it contributes to the spread of these views in England, even this trial will be a decided gain." It is stated on all hands that the case will be a warning to the German authorities to take more precautions to prevent foreigners from gaining information concerning the coast defences in particular, and the demand is made that sentries with loaded rifles shall be posted at all places, where espionage would be possible and profitable to the foreigner. The highland of the island of Heligoland has already been closed to visitor and the lighthouses at Wangeroog and Borkum may not in future be ascended. Demands are also made in the Chauvinistic journals that, in view of the fact that the German authorities now know that England contemplates an assault on the German coast, everything possible shall be done by improving the coast defences and increasing the strength of the navy to render such an attack innocuous. The Vorwärts, the chief Socialist organ, contends that all such talk is vain, and that the conclusion drawn from the proceeding at Leipzig that England premediates an aggressive war on Germany is as foolish as it is unscrupulous. All that has been proved, it says is that military England is on her guard against Germany, as military Germany is against England, and merely seeks to obtain all the information that might be of use in case of an outbreak of war. The German newspapers trust finally that their English contemporaries will gather the impression that the proceedings against the English officers were conducted in a spirit of clearness and justice that the accused were treated as men of honour, and that the verdict pronounced on them was as lenient as the circumstances permitted.

GREECE AND BULGARIA.

The attempts to bring about a rapprochement between the Greeks and Bulgarians are being actively continued. The Greek Patriarchate recently laid before the Turkish Government lengthy reports showing its wishes on the questions of recruiting and teaching and on Tuesday, an agent of the Bulgarian Exarchate went to the Patriarchate to request copies of the documents and solicit the opinion of the Patriarch regarding common action. For some days past, the Greek and Bulgarian Deputies have been holding repeated meetings. The Greek leaders, Bousios and Vanvakas, have called on the Bulgarian Exarch declaring that on political matters the entente was complete, and expressing the hope for a future entente on religious questions.

EUROPEAN POLITICS.

GERMAN COMMENTS ON M. PICHON'S SPEECH.

Undiminished Strength of Triple Alliance.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JAN. 14.

M. Pichon's assurances regarding the undiminished strength of the Triple Entente are generally welcomed in France and Britain, while the German press praises his calm and reasonable speech, indicating that the existing alliances and ententes are not modified, though it declares that the Russo-German Agreement marks the end of intrigues to isolate Germany.

The opinion is expressed in Paris, that an attempt may now be made to effect an Anglo-Franco-German Agreement regarding railways in Asia Minor and Persia, on the basis of the partial internationalisation of the Bagdad Railway.

CANADIAN-AMERICAN RECIPROCITY.

Manufacturers' Protest.

LONDON, JAN. 14.

The Ottawa Delegation representing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association waited upon the Government to-day, protesting against reciprocity with the United States, and opposing the demand of the deputation of farmers, which waited upon the Dominion House of Commons in December last, to advocate the increase of British preference and the adoption of reciprocity with the United States. The present delegation declare that reciprocity will check the flow of British and European capital.

In reply, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Dominion Prime Minister, said he could not see how it was impossible to conclude some measure of reciprocity, which would not injure either the farmers or manufacturers. He thought that the Canadian representatives at Washington, could be trusted to handle the negotiations without disturbing existing conditions.

THE CANADIAN FISHERY REGULATIONS.

Compromise to Meet United States.

LONDON, JAN. 13.

The Canadian and Newfoundland representatives at Washington, have agreed to change the existing fishery regulations, and so to remove the objections of the United States, which were not adjusted by the Hague Tribunal. A compromise is welcomed in Newfoundland as averting the necessity for a further appeal to the Hague.

TRANS-ATLANTIC STEAMSHIPS' PROSECUTION.

No Jurisdiction in America.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 14.

It is learned unofficially that the Department of Justice does not consider that the Courts of the United States have jurisdiction over the thirteen Trans-Atlantic lines, which were being prosecuted under the Anti-Trust Law. A Conference was held at the Department yesterday, with the object of framing a law-creating jurisdiction.

JAPAN'S FOREIGN TRADE POLICY.

Reciprocal Treaties Aimed at.

LONDON, JAN. 13.

Reuter learns that Japan's aim in the negotiations which are proceeding in Britain and other countries, is to replace the present one-sided and conventional tariff by treaties of a more reciprocal character.

The new treaties will, in the main, follow the lines of the old ones, with, however, the addition of a new special tariff in certain cases.

CONSERVATIVE ORGANISATION.

Committee of Inquiry.

LONDON, JAN. 14.

Mr. Balfour has decided to institute a committee to enquire into the organisation of the Conservative Party.

EARTHQUAKE IN TURKESTAN.

Renewal of Disturbances.

ST. PETERSBURG, JAN. 14.

There was a renewed earthquake in Turkestan at midnight of the 12th instant. Hitherto 204 corpses have been dug out at Kirghiz. In the Pishpek district, an immense number of cattle have perished.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, JAN. 15.

There slight shocks of earthquake were recorded in Simla yesterday at ten hours, forty-four minutes, twenty-three hours, twenty-eight minutes, and twenty-three hours, thirty-nine minutes, from a distance of about eight hundred miles.

STORMS IN SOUTHERN EUROPE.

Railroads Snowed up: Shipping Detained.

IMMENSE RESERVOIR BURST.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JAN. 14.

From all parts of Spain reports arrive of tremendous snow-storms. Railways and other means of communications have been blocked. The immense dam of the reservoir at the Huelva Copper and Sulphur mines, containing 250,000 cubic metres of water, burst, flooding the neighbouring country and overthrowing a train. Eleven persons were killed.

LONDON, JAN. 15.

The Railways have been interrupted by snowstorms in the South of France.

LATER.

Reuter wires from Madrid that gales and snow-storms in Spain have interrupted the working of telegraphs, telephones and railways. Several cases are reported of trains being buried and of the passengers' critical positions. Relief has been sent, but it is not known whether it can reach its destination in time. The Sud Express, due on Friday last, is still snowed up at Avila. Great havoc has been wrought in the seaports. Eighty craft of various descriptions have been destroyed or seriously damaged near Vigo.

LONDON, JAN. 13.

Lloyds wire from Port Said that a heavy wind is detaining the shipping.

PORT SAID, JAN. 14.

The weather is more moderate, but still unsettled. Ships are proceeding.

LABOUR PARTY AND VETO BILL.

Letter by Mr. Barnes.

LONDON, JAN. 13.

The Labour leader, Mr. Barnes, writing to Reynolds' Newspaper, says that the gravest danger to the Government in regard to the Veto Bill is the foolish and unnecessary preamble indicating the future intention to reform the House of Lords.

He warns the Government that if they insist on this attempt to conciliate the Whig section of the Cabinet, the Labour Members will vote against them.

On the other hand, the Unionist press simultaneously indicates that the Unionist leaders are formally resolved to battle for amendments in the House of Commons, and particularly to attack the Government for dodging the question of reform by only mentioning it in the preamble, which has no legislative force.

SYDNEY WITHOUT GAS.

Strikers Come to an Agreement.

LONDON, JAN. 13.

Sydney was without gas at nightfall, owing to a strike of twelve thousand gas-workers, in consequence of the Company's refusal to reinstate a dismissed employee, who was Secretary of the Union. The mediation of the Premier resulted in an agreement.

The Secretary was suspended during an enquiry, held by three employers and three men, with Mr. Watson, an ex-Premier, as Chairman.

At ten o'clock, the gas supply was restored.

IMPENDING SAILORS' STRIKE.

Period of Coronation Fixed.

LONDON, JAN. 14.

A New York message states that the American agent of the British Sailors' and Firemen's Union announces the receipt of a letter from Mr. Havelock Wilson, who is the moving spirit of the Union, stating that a strike, involving all British ports, has been arranged for the period of the Coronation.

REMBRANDT'S "NIGHT WATCH."

Badly Damaged by Knife-Thrusts.

AMSTERDAM, JAN. 13.

A man has badly damaged, by knife-thrusts, Rembrandt's most celebrated picture, the "Night Watch," in the State Museum.

The man, when arrested, stated that he was a cook, who was discharged from the Navy as physically unfit.

SITUATION IN PORTUGAL.

Concessions to Railway Strikers.

DOM MIGUEL'S SIGNIFICANT MOVEMENTS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JAN. 14.

Reuter wires from Lisbon that a strong force of troops last night, dispersed a meeting of workmen, at which a general strike was being discussed.

LONDON, JAN. 15.

Reuter wires from Lisbon that the railway strike has been ended, the concessions made to the men being: an increase of 5 1-2 pence daily, twenty days' annual leave on full pay and a nine hours' working day.

The iron-workers and gasworkes are still on strike, and the latter have closed the furnaces at Belem. The troops dislodged them with the butts of their rifles. Firemen are replacing the strikers.

The Temps states that Dom Miguel has been conferring with Portuguese personalities at Pau, and has proceeded to an unknown destination.

THE CORONATION.

Special Representatives from the Colonies.

LONDON, JAN 15.

The Observer publishes interviews with the Commissioners and Agents-General of the Dominions cordially approving the suggestion that the representatives of the Dominions should be assigned a definite part in the ceremonial at the Coronation.

Sir Richard Solomon, High Commissioner for the Union of South Africa, says that if the suggestion is sanctioned by His Majesty, United South Africa will greet the news with whole-hearted acclamation. The participation of the Colonies in the crowning of their Sovereign would be reckoned as perhaps the greatest act of grace His Majesty could confer, and would draw closer the kinship of the races.

KNIGHT, YANCEY AND CO.'S BANKRUPTCY.

British and German Claims in Court.

LONDON, JAN. 15.

British and German creditors of the Bankrupt cotton firm of Messrs. Knight, Yancey and Co. have begun an action in the Alabama Court against the Louisville and Nashville and Southern Railroads, which they charge with having obtained money on Messrs. Knight, Yancey and Company's forged cotton bills of of lading. The total of the British claims is 2,000,000 dollars. German claims amount to 300,000 dollars.

AMERICAN CUSTOMS' FRAUDS.

Settlement of Suit.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 14.

It is announced in Bradford, that the case of Messrs. Brookes, against whom a suit was instituted to recover £40,000 sterling for alleged evasion of the American customs by means of fraudulent invoices, has been settled. The American assets of the firm have been released on forfeiture of the bond given to the authorities and payment of 21,000 dollars, in settlement of the customs' claim for 200,000 dollars.

LANCASHIRE COTTON TRADE.

A Revival and a Difficulty.

LONDON, JAN. 14.

There is a marked revival in the cotton trade. The restarting of the mills in East Lancashire reveals a shortage of labour, owing to extensive emigration or to the operatives seeking other employment during the prolonged period of depression. Manufacturers are hoping for the return of the operatives from America. All the Blackburn mills are running, except four.

The Labour Exchanges are endeavouring to attract work people from other countries.

PLAGUE IN CHINA.

Horrors of the Middle Ages Repeated.

LONDON, JAN. 14.

A Peking telegram states that 1,135 Chinese and 64 foreigners have died of plague at Harbin; at Mukden, 36 deaths have occurred. Plague is extending rapidly.

No cases are reported south of Shan Hai Kuan, where quarantine has been established. The trains have been held up for five days.

LONDON, JAN. 15.

Reuter wires from St. Petersburg that 150 deaths from plague are occurring daily among the Chinese at Harbin, the scenes recalling the middle-ages. Corpses half-devoured by dogs have been thrown into the River Amur, thus spreading infection.

P. & O. MAIL BOAT DAMAGED.

LONDON, JAN. 14.

The P. & O. steamer "Mongolia" arrived at Plymouth to-day, eighteen hours late, with her bridge damaged by the recent storm.

RUMOURED INDIAN LOAN.

Market not yet Prepared.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LODON, JAN. 13.

Rumours have been current on the London market this week, of an Indian sterling loan. It is stated, on high financial authority, however, that the market is not prepared for more Indian loans at present, it being considered that it badly wants a rest.

Indian rupee paper, with a bank rate at 7 per cent. in Calcutta and Bombay, and 8 per cent. in Madras, stands at about 95½, while sterling paper, with an English bank rate at 4½, stands a point longer, showing that London is not the place at present for Indian loans.

The Pall Mall Gazette stated yesterday evening that Lord Crewe had decided against any Indian loan in London for the present.

THE HUNGARIAN LOAN.

LONDON, JAN. 14.

Hungarians are elated at the phenomenal success of their loan of £10,500,000 sterling as showing confidence in Hungarian credit. The large Austro-German subscriptions are regarded as a demonstration against the French financiers, who opposed the placing of the loan in France.

THE DELHI DURBAR.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JAN 14.

Mr. Dampster, Director General of Telegraps, has recently been in consultation with Sir John Hewett, regarding the arrangements to be made at the Delhi Durbar, Extra wires will be laid and an extensive system of telephone will probably be organised.

THE TUBBY CASE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JAN. 14.

Private Tubby, of the 13th Hussars, whose re-trial was ordered by the High Court, has been committed to the Sessions by the District Magistrate of Anantapur. The accused claims to be tried by a mixed jury.

BURMA KHEDDAH CASE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

RANGOON, JAN 15.

Since Thursday a number of witnesses have been examined on behalf of the Crown in the Kheddah case against Birch, Gupta and Clark, which has now reached the seventh hearing before Mr. Justice Robinson and a Special Jury at the Sessions of the Chief Court. They were called to prove that during the various periods of the service in the Burma Kheddahs, they never saw elephants burnt or buried or they themselves ever burnt or buried elephants. The evidence of some showed that there was not a large number of deaths from the disease amongst the animals in the Kheddahs under Clark. The hearing will again be resumed on Monday.

RANGOON GHARRY STRIKE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

RANGOON, JAN. 15.

The few gharriwallas who turned out last evening for a little time, to-day joined those who have not been plying since the strike began and all the day no gharries were available. Rikshaws and the Tramway Company are doing a brisk business. Every concession that could be expected from the Municipality has been made and it is a mistake on the strikers' part to hold out in the hope of obtaining anything further.

The Assistant Director of Ordnance Stores, Quetta Division, is now in Karachi on Inspection duty.

CROWN PRINCE'ST OUR.

Field Day at Hassanabdul.

ARRIVAL AT DELHI.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

HASSANABDUL, JAN. 15.

The Crown Prince left Hassanabdul at 8-45 yesterday morning, to witness a field day. His Imperial Highness was met on his arrival by General Sir Alfred Martin and Brigadier-General Carnegie. The first and second battalions of the Fifth Gurkhas and the first and second battalions of the 6th Gurkhas, supported by a Mountain Battery, attacked a position held by an enemy. The attack was followed by a retirement, both the scheme and ground having been chosen to enable the Crown Prince to witness a good example of hill-warfare.

The brigade marched past His Imperial Highness in column of route, after which there was a Khud race. The Prince and his suite were then entertained at luncheon by Col. Stuart and the officers of the Fifth Gurkhas, and he left for Hassanabdul, arriving there at 4-30.

DELHI, JAN. 15.

The Crown Prince arrived at Delhi at 2-15 p.m. to-day and was received at the station by Colonel Dallas, Commissioner of Delhi, Mr. Baron, Deputy Commissioner and Col. King, Commanding the Garrison. The Prince motored direct from the station to the Fort after which he visited the Juma Musjid. He then proceeded to the Circuit House where he is staying.

DACCA CONSPIRACY CASE.

An Interesting Legal Point.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

DACCA, JAN. 14.

In the Dacca Conspiracy Case, before the Sessions Judge, yesterday, Mr. C. R. Das, Counsel, for the defence, took preliminary objections to the charges. He submitted, that in this case, the complaint was not couched in the terms it should be. The local Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam was not a local Government in the sense of the term.

The Governor-General who created this province acted "ultra vires." The question that arose for determination was, whether the Lieut.-Governor of this province was the chief executive head as contemplated by the law.

The Judge: "Is this court competent to quash proceedings?"

Mr. Das replied that the question was not a question of quashing a commitment, but, in that case, there was no commitment, no magistrate, and no litigant.

Mr. Garth replied that the court had no jurisdiction in the matter, and it must be referred to the High Court.

Mr. Das submitted that the High Court had no special power in the matter, and referred to the dictum of the Chief Justice in the Howrah Gang Case, where the High Court stayed its hands against an accused as there was no required complaint against him.

Mr. Garth replied that the question was different; there was want of complaint, but no question, such as that this was no province, was raised; there was no Lieut.-Governor, Chief Secretary or Magistrate.

Mr. Das replied that the question in issue was the same as in the Howrah Gang Case. There was no complaint from one point of view, but, in the present case, there was a complaint from another point of view, namely, that of competent authority.

His Honour ruled that he was not going to accept the contention of the defence counsel.

Mr. Das next submitted that the complaint was defective and charges were not properly framed on account of the misjoinder of the accused and of the charges.

The Judge overruled the objections and will hear evidence from to-day.

ALLAHABAD EXHIBITION.

Magh Mela Bathing Festival.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JAN. 14.

The Magh Mela festival of bathing has begun. Crowds are now seen at to the junction of the rivers and the attendance at the Exhibition has largely increased.

The automatic collision-preventer, which was demonstrated at the Railway Conference, is on view at the Exhibition.

The Gaikwar and the Maharani of Baroda arrived at Allahabad, on Tuesday, to visit the Exhibition.

DARING ROBBERY IN CALCUTTA.

High Court Judge's House Broken into.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 15.

A daring robbery was perpetrated on Saturday night in the house of the Hon. Mr. Justice Casperz, of the Calcutta High Court. The thief entered the bed rooms of Mrs. and Miss P. Casperz and removed the jewellery and silver from their dressing tables to the value of Rs. 500. The ladies were not awakened and the theft was only dicovered in the morning. Mr. Justice Casperz was away from Calcutta on inspection duty to up-country but the Hon'ble Mr. Holms and Mrs Holms were staying in the house. Their rooms were not entered. The Police are enquiring into the matter.

The fire brigade was engaged last night in extinguishing a fire in the cargo of the steemer "Malkand", which was loading with jute in Kidderpore docks for home. The damage is estimated at several lakhs of rupees.

AFTER THE BOMBAY RIOTS.

QUIET IN MAHOMEDAN QUARTER.

British Troops Withdrawn.

The action taken on Saturday night and Sunday morning by the police authorities of Bombay shows that they do not fear any further serious disturbance in the Pydhowale and Bhendy Bazar districts in consequence of the recent Mohurrum. They have now withdrawn the detachment of the Warwickshire Regiment from the native city and have authorised the re-opening of the liquor shops. The neighbourhood has been perfectly quiet since Thursday afternoon, and every day it has been more and more resuming its normal appearance. Now that the Mohurrum Festival is over, there is nothing to bring the people together in large crowds, and the authorities therefore believe that it is unlikely that anything serious will occur. Still as a matter of precaution, the streets are still picketed and patrolled by police and native troops. At principal posts such as Pydhownie Chowki and Null Bazaar, the Warwickshires have been replaced by men of the 9th Berar Light Infantry, but in two places, in Khoka Bazaar and Sandhurst Road, the British troops have been taken away and none has replaced them. The police are still actively making inquiries and during Saturday 27 Mahomedans were arrested, bringing the total number of arrests up to 37,—and will be brought before the Magistrates at Mazagon this morning.

Coroner's Inquests Concluded.

At the Morgue, on Saturday, Mr. G. F. Chalk, Coroner, concluded the inquiry on view of the dead bodies of (1) Chunilal Kanaiholal, Hindu (30); (2) Dayalji Gopalji, Hindu (43); (3) Abdool Essak, Mahomedan (13); (4) Meman Mooji, Mahomedan (25); (5) Dilmoolal Moorid, Mahomedan (25); (6) Mallorg Hybat, Mahomedan (23); (7) Noor Mahomed, Mahomedan, (14); (8) Amangul Goolkhan, Mahomedan (25); (9) Osman Allana, Mahomedan (17); (10) Gayadin, Hindu (25) and six other Mahomedans, names unknown.

The inquiry relating to the deaths of (1) Narayan Bhoje, Hindu (18); (2) Shamji Jairam, Hindu (14); (3) Mia Khan Yarkhan, Mahomedan (30) and a Hindu name unknown was amalgamated in the above inquiry.

Inspector E. De'Burgh, B. Division, said that on the 12th instant at 3 p. m., he received orders from Mr. Vincent, Deputy Commissioner of Police, C.I.D., to clear the crowd that had gathered all round Pydhownie. The police kept them on the move. At about 4 o'clock, the crowds began stoning the trams that were passing and stoning the police and troops that were stationed there. The police made several charges to disperse the crowd, who came back and started throwing stones again. Many police officers and men of the troops were struck with stones. About 5 p.m, the Commissioner of Police arrived on the scene with Mr. Setalwad, Fourth Presidency Magistrate. The Commissioner gave an order to the military to kneel down as if prepared to fire. They remained in that position for about ten minutes. As the crowd continued to throw stones and to advance, Mr. Setalwad gave an order to the military ("F" Company, Warwicks) to fire. There were 30 men of the Company. Ten were facing Pydhownie Road and twenty facing Bhendy Bazaar. Two or three volleys were fired in immediate succession before the crowds dispersed. The firing lasted about four or five seconds. The Commissioner then gave orders that the dead and injured persons should be conveyed to the hospitals. They were sent to the Sir J. J. and G. T. Hospitals in two lots. Everything was quiet after the firing. Eleven were picked up dead and six wounded. Some were taken to the hospital by their friends. Twenty have died of the gunshot wounds. Twenty-two are still lying in the hospitals. Five men in addition to the twenty-two were attended to and let go. Three sepoys and one European officer were seriously hurt with the stones that were thrown by the crowd. About 20 or 30 persons, including the police and the military, were slightly injured.

Questioned by a juror, witness said that the crowd of about two thousand Pathans and Mahomedans were continuously showering stones for about one hour. If only a few shots were fired, the crowd would not have dispersed. Had only four or five persons been shot, in his opinion the crowd would have dispersed for a short time but would have returned again. The crowds were fired on low down but some of the bullets jumped up. The order to fire was to fire low. Better result would not have been produced if the volleys had been fired after an interval.

The distance between the military and the front of the crowds was about 100 yards. The military fired down Pydhownie Road and Bhendi Bazaar. Had only one volley been fired, the crowd would not have dispersed but would have overtaken the military. As the last resource the order to fire was given.

In answer to the Coroner, witness said that the police never fired.

Examined by a Mahomedan juror, witness said that the crowd was also armed with sticks and lathis. The crowd of two thousand had gathered to assault the police and the military.

A Marwaree juror:—Why were Hindus shot? A.—No Hindu was shot at Pydhownie Road. Hindus fell at Bhendy Bazaar.

Dr. Arthur Powell, Police Surgeon, said he had examined the bodies of the sixteen deceased in the Morgue. Death was in all cases due to gun-shot wounds. The wounds were such as would be caused by the regulation military rifle.

The jury returned a verdict that the deaths of the above-mentioned 20 deceased were caused by gun-shot wounds received during a riot.

Rioters Before the Magistrate.

The police have succeeded in making thirty-seven arrests since the riot at Pydhownie, and the men who were marked and kept in mind by the police have been arrested and taken to the Police Chowki. Ten accused were placed before the Magistrate in different batches, and, after they had been identified by witnesses as those who had thrown stones at the police, the soldiers and the tramcars, on Thursday afternoon, the further inquiry was adjourned. The remaining 27 accused will be placed before the Magistrate to-day.

The first batch of rioters, consisted of Dawoodali Kazi and Rasool Vazier who were charged before Mr. P. H. Dastur, Second Presidency Magistrate, on Saturday afternoon. The charge against them was that of being members of an unlawful assembly, using sticks as dangerous weapons, throwing stones and rioting along with other people near Pydhownie, on the 12th instant.

Superintendent Walton, deposed that on the 12th instant, the police had occasion to disperse the crowds on the road, near the Pydhownie Police Station. Several persons went in the direction of Kolsa Mohulla, and several went into Banyan Street. These people kept coming and going and throwing stones. At 4-30 p.m, the witness saw the first accused coming on to Pydhownie road with others. He was one of those, who abused and insulted the police. They were using bad language towards other people too. When Mr. Walton went towards them and ordered them to go back into the lane, they threw stones at him and the police sepoys who were helping him to disperse the crowd. There were about 1,500 persons at the Kolsa Mohulla corner, and they were throwing stones at those near the Pydhownie Police Station. The Superintendent went up to them, and told them to desist from throwing stones. They refused to stop throwing stones and the shower of stones was so constant that the police had to retire. The witness had seen the second accused in Banyan Street, Bhendy Bazar and also in Kolsa Mohulla. The first accused was noticed hiding himself behind a tabut and throwing stones under its cover. He came out occasionally. When the Military opened fire, both the accused were injured. The first accused was wounded in the right thigh and the second accused in the right arm. In Banyan Street, the Superintendent said, he saw a crowd of about six to eight hundred people. The crowd came out and threw stones at the passing tram-cars and ran back into the Street. This was repeated several times, the witness was sure he had seen the two accused at the time.

Inspectors Jones and DeBurgh were also called as witnesses and they corroborated the evidence of Mr. Walton.

The first accused denied the charge. He pleaded that he was told by his master to go to Khadak with some food. He saw a large crowd, and out of curiosity he went to see what the matter was. It was then that he received a bullet in his thigh. He had never thrown stones at all.

The second accused said that he was wounded by a bullet at the time when he was serving out tea to the customers in his master's shop near Chuna Bhatty.

The accused wished to call evidence and the Magistrate adjourned the inquiry.

ANOTHER BATCH.

Another batch consisted of Syed Mahomed (16) Mahomed Haje Ibrahim (17), Hasan Cassam (17), and Abu Ismael (18). The first accused was undefended, while the other three were defended by Mr Oliveira, Pleader.

Inspector De'Burgh deposed to having seen the four accused throwing stones and Sub-Inspector Butterfield corrobrated the statement made by Mr. De Burgh. The accused were identified by different Policemen who were present on the spot at the time. They having seen the accused taking part in the riot.

In his defence the first accused said he did not throw stones, nor was he in the crowd which was throwing stones.

At the time he was said to be throwing stones he was working in the Dock, and he could produce evidence to that effect. The other three accused denied the charge and said that they were all living in one building and the land-lord having locked the main entrance they could not come out of their house on the day of the occurrence.

Evidence was then called for the defence and Khan Saheb Haji Aba Mohomed said he was the owner of the house in Dharmsey Street. The three accused were his tenants and lived in that house. On the Mohurum day, they were in the house and witness had locked the door, prevenging them from going out. He knew that the accused were in the house till the evening. They went out at 4 p.m., on Friday, when they were arrested In cross-examination by Inspector Jones, the witness said that the accused were not his relatives. He did not know they were related to each other. They lived in different storeys of the house. His house was a four-storeyed building and eight families lived there. There were many boys among them. He had locked the door of his house, as he feared there was likely to be a disturbance that day. Ali Mahomed Khan Mahomed corroborated the evidence of the last witness.

The Magistrate adjourned the further hearing of the case.

STONING THE TRAM-CARS.

Inspector Jones then placed four more Mahomedans before the Magistrate, on the charge of rioting on the 12th instant. They were: Abdul Rahiman Ibrahim (22), Moosa Mahomed (17), Abdul Latif Jumadin (19) and Rahiman Sullman (17).

Mr. D.F. Dastur and Mr. Crage, pleader, defended the second and third accused respectively.

These four accused were identified by Inspector Butterfield, as the persons who were throwing stones at passing tram-cars near the Chuna Bhatty. The Inspector, with a view to stop the stone-throwing, went up to the crowd among whom the accused were standing. He had three soldiers and seven police sepoys with him. The crowd threw stones at them and continued throwing them until the Military opened fire. The accused were arrested on Friday afternoon.

Some corroborative evidence was then recorded and this case was also adjourned.

The 27 more persons arrested since Friday afternoon, will be placed on their trial to-day.

Comment by the "Englishman."

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 14.

The "Englishman," in the course of an article, on the Bombay riots, writes:—"During recent years there has certainly been a general increase in the animosity shown by the mobs towards the police. The Bakr-Id disturbances in Calcutta, stand by themselves, but in other instances, even when the trouble began by some friction between the Hindus and Mahomedans, it has ended by both parties combining to attack the police. In the Taltah riots, which originated in a dispute about a mosque, both the Hindus and Mahomedans attacked, not only the police, but isolated Europeans. This tendency, whether in Bengal, Madras, the Punjab or Bombay, is to be distinctly traced to the campaign of sedition. Active sedition has now apparently come to an end, but the people who were taught to regard the Government and all its officers and servants as enemies still retain some of the teaching in their memories.

"The Bombay affair appears to have originated by crowds stoning the police in Pydhownie square, without the slightest provocation. The troops were brought up, and finally the order was given to fire, and as a result, fourteen men were killed and eighteen dangerously wounded. Many other wounded must have been carried away, or must have dragged themselves away. The incident will, undoubtedly, be made use of by the agitators further to inflame the feeling against the police. What is needed, of course, is some method of getting hold of the men who stir up the trouble. But here the Government of India, like the Government of very many other countries, is baffled by the law, which it, itself, had made. It is only in a place like Kabul, that such persons an be seized and punished without any further cado."

GULF ARMS TRAFFIC.

Details of Affair at Dabai.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

KARACHI, JAN. 15.

News having been received by H. M. S. "Hyacinth" that a cargo of rifles had been landed and concealed at Dabai, a small force was landed from the ship and went into the town, splitting up into small parties for the purpose of a search. One party, while digging into the compound of a hut, came upon two boxes of money. The money was replaced and the boxes covered up with earth again, the men leaving it as they found it. They then began to dig in another spot, when the Arabs suddenly opened fire on them from all sides. The landing party made for the beach which was not far distant and regained their boats, and it was here that the casualties took place. Some of the "Hyacinth" men were cornered on the beach before they could get into their boats. They were exposed to rifle fire at a short range and lying down flat tried to make cover for themselves by scooping up sand with their hands.

Had it not been for the excitable state of the Arabs, the whole landing party might have been killed, but the Arabs aimed wildly and some of them, even at thirty yards only fired wide. The Arabs effectually prevented the bringing into action of the Maxim gun which was in one of the ship's boats. Had the Maxim been brought into play there would have been much slaughter among the native. But the Arab marksmen notice the gun and kept up a hail of fire every time anyone went near it. It was impossible to approach it. It is added that one man who slipped over the edge of the boat into water and tried to work his way along the gunwale to the Maxim had one hand short off as he clasped the bulwark and when his other hand came into sight, as he clasped the side of the boat, this hand was bit too.

The fight was a muddle, indescribable affair, or while some of the Arabs were firing, the others were trying to parley with one another or with the British force.

The officer in command of the landing party was all the time on the shore, having been cut off with several men on the dividing up of the party. At first he held his ground instead of running for the boats, and, when the firing broke out, he told his men to hold their fire. This act of conspicuous coolness had a marked effect.

ISOLATED PARTY SURROUNDED.

The Arabs surrounded the little party but did not fire on them and presently the Shikh came up. The parleying began, and, meanwhile, the "Hyacinth" hearing the fusilade signalled promising immediate assistance and threatening to shell the town. This threat was conveyed to the Shaikh, who replied that they would not shell the town as long as the British officer was there. The "Hyacinth," however, dropped two shells into the town away from where the landing party had operations. The first shell only hit a donkey, but the second shell killed fourteen men. The Arabs quietened down immediately. In all, they had lost 37 or 38 in the return fire from the boats, and they offered no opposition as the boats drew away from the beach and rejoined the ship. The officer went down to the beach, unmolested, and returned to the ship also. The "Hyacinth" men, lost, five killed and nine wounded—one of whom has since died. The "Hyacinth" being in wireless communication with the Admiral on the opposite side of the Gulf of Jask, her Captain felt compelled to ask for orders. He was instructed to impose a fine of fifty thousand rupees and three hundred rifles. This was paid.

"A telegraph station is to be erected at Dabai, and it is understood that measures will be taken to keep it under control. The onslaught on the landing party though premeditated, was apparently not countenanced by the Shaik. At least, according to his own story, he did all that he could to stop the firing, protected the officer and submitted at once to the punishment ordered. The Shaikh's man are armed with the best rifles and the pockets of their cartridge belts were stuffed with ammunition. The Shaikh maintains that it was not his own men who were implicated. How far he was personally concerned in the attack or in the gun-running traffic, is being investigated and further penalties may be imposed.

KARACHI, JAN. 14.

Another seizure of revolver and cartridges was effected by the Customs Officials at Keamari yesterday. A Pathan passenger landed from the Persian Gulf steamer and several cartridges were found secreted in his turban and in his leather bag which contained ghee. A revolver was also discovered. The accused will be placed before the City Magistrate charged under the Arms Act.

THE MACDERMOTT CASE.

European Chemist Charged.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 14.

The hearing commenced to-day, before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, of the case, in which Frank Ross, chemist, of Chowringhee, is charged with selling without a license on the 23rd of September last, five grains of strychnine to F. Bennett, the discharged accused in the Macdermott fatality case. Formal evidence was taken including that of Sub-Inspector Gay, who informed the Court that Ross had held a license in 1909, and had been the first to inform the Police of having sold the strychnine.

The case was adjourned to the 21st instant, for the evidence of the Chemical Examiner.

SPORTING NEWS.

BOMBAY RACES.

Fifth Extra Meeting.

THE largest attendance so far this season gathered at Mahalaxmi Race-course, Bombay, on Saturday last, to witness the eight races on the card for the Fifth Extra Meeting. The heat of the afternoon was alleviated by a fresh breeze from across the course which at times grew somewhat boisterous and raised the dust, so that, at times, it was difficult to discriminate between the colours of the jockeys at any distance. Several ladies were present and, on the lawn, the band of the G. I. P. Railway Volunteers played a much-appreciated programme of music. There were so many entries for the Hopeful Plate, that three races were made of this event. The fields were for the most part good and business in the ring was brisk, but it was noticeable that in most races at least two or three horses were at very short prices. The one outside win of the day was Sir Hugo's victory in the Prongs Plate when he beat the 3 to 1 on favourite by the decisive margin of one and a half lengths. Ngakapa could hardly have been called a favourite at 4 to 1, and many backers supported Butters's mount. Some consternation was caused in the Consolation Plate amongst those who backed Aurum for a place. The first time the numbers were put up, Fado was shown to be third, but this error was soon rectified and Aurum's number was substituted. The Totalisator, however, had followed the first decision and the holders of tickets on Aurum were unpleasantly surprised when they saw Rs. 25 returned for third place money. Again the mistake was rectified and Rs. 71 were paid out for third place. The last race provided some excitement between the second and third horses. Croesus, whom one mentioned last week as a good-looking Arab and who ran second in the second division of the New Lilliputs' Plate, on Saturday ran wide at the bend. Young Majub was [illegible] easily and Mexico appeared to be the next horse for a place, when Croesus hugging the Grandstand railings came up with a great run and beat Mexico for second place.

In the first race, Elser, the top weight, was made favourite in the betting, but Comeback, Gun Metal and Ngakapa were all supported. Golightly being the only long-priced starter. In the race, Elser tried hard, but was unable to concede the weight to Ngakapa, who won by half a length. Singer was at once made favourite in the first part of the Hopeful Plate, and, although Senseless was well supported, Evans's mount won by ten lengths followed by Burg and Sir Albert. In the second division of the same race, Steward, with Taylor up, was made favourite with Chaman and Yusuf Pasha strongly supported. The result justified the betting, for Steward won decisively followed by Chaman and Yusuf Pasha. Sulaik was considered such a certain tip for the Prongs Plate, that he was brought down to 3 to 1 on, Hamdoon meeting with some support. However, Sir Hugo, at the outside price of 8 to 1, won in the straight, the favourite being second. The New Year Plate provided the most exciting finish of the day. Public support was divided between Solution, Wine Merchant and Lancasterite, the last named winning from Mr. Baldock's candidate with Solution a close third. In the Mahim Plate, although Lookman was made favourite, many of the punters put their money on Mudkoor, while Dilerjung was considered dangerous. Brown brought his mount home first by three lengths followed by Zinfandel and Lookman in the order named. Abdul Malik was another instance of the favourite winning easily, and Toronto who got second place was only within seven lengths of Evans's mount at the post. Aurum ran into third place, just beating Fado. Young Majub and Sir Edward were at the shortest prices in the betting for the third division of the Hopeful Plate, with Pendil and Medallist supported for places. Evans rode his third winner during the afternoon, Young Majub winning comfortably. The wide run of Croesus into second place afforded pleasurable excitement to those who had supported this Arab. Of the other winning jockeys, Brown rode two, Taylor one and Butters one mount to victory.

The following are the detailed results:—

THE ROSEHILL PLATE.—Distance 5 furlongs. 2-30 p.m.

Mr R G Baldock's Ngakapa, 7st 4lbs (carried 7st 5lbs) .....Butters 1

ROYAL CONNAUGHT BOAT CLUB.

Regatta, 1911.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, JAN. 14.

Great interest is being taken in Poona rowing circles over the forthcoming Regatta on Tuesday and Wednesday next, as both the Bombay and Madras Boat Clubs are again this year, as last year, sending representative crews in reply to the annual challenge issued by the Royal Connaught Boat Club to row a mile race. This is only the second time within recent years, that Bombay has sent up a crew, but the members of the Madras Boat Club are old rivals on the river of the Poona Club. It will be remembered that Poona was defeated by Madras in the Madras Regatta last year, so that it behoves the Poona crew to make an effort and secure a win this year. The choice of the Poona crew is as follows:—

Cox: Revd. F. Bridger, Corpus, Cambridge.
Str: Capt. J. Langrishe, Trinity, Dublin.
3: Capt. M. Leahy, Trinity, Dublin.
2: Capt. H. V. Byatt, Clare, Cambridge.
Bow. Mr. A. Startin, Staine's Rowing Club.

They are being coached by Fanshawe and are a powerful crew, rowing well together both in time and swing and have plenty of life and hard work. Langrishe, one of the best oars seen in Poona waters of late years, is a fine stroke with a long steady swing, and can be relied upon never to hustle his crew behind him. He is well backed up by Leahy at 3. Byatt at 2 is a neat hardworking oar with plenty of experience, and Sartin rows cleany at bow, though he is, perhaps, not so sharp on his "beginning" at times as the rest of the crew. Altogether Bombay and Madras will have their work cut out to beat them. It is be hoped that Langrishe will manage to keep the Coxes of both the foreign crews well in sight over the whole course.

The Bombay and Madras crews are as follows. The order of the Bombay crew is at present uncertain:—

BOMBAY.	MADRAS.
Cox:	Cox: Thampson
Str: Leahy	Str: Barber
3: Schmidt	3. Hignett
2: Elsworth	2: Anns
Bow Denso	Bow: Simmons

Of the Madras crew, Thompson, Barber and Simmons have already represented their Club against Poona on two or three occasions; and Barber stroked the Madras crew last year to victory against one of the strongest crews that Poona has turned out, and he certainly will be out again. Hignett has rowed for Wadham, Oxford, but nothing is known in Poona of their bow-oar. The crew arrived from Madras on Thursday night, and are out on the river regularly morning and afternoon. On the whole, they have come to Poona with a big reputation. The Bombay crew arrived to-day. It is their first appearance, as a crew, on home waters. This great race will be rowed at 4-30 p. m. on Wednesday next.

The event of next importance in the Regatta is the Service Fours. Only two entries have been made for this race—British and Indian Military Services. It is a pity that a Civil Service crew never manages to enter to compete the contest. The crews for the two Military Services are as follows:—

BRITISH.	INDIAN.
Cox, A. G. Bremner	Mrs. Wilson
Str, A. D. Arbuthnot	R. C. Wilson
3: F. Turner	C. H. Harvey-Kelly
2: A. W. Purser	A. Gilroy
Bow: A. L. Paris	A. E. Meredith.

The British crew are a powerful lot and should win, but Arbuthnot has to deal with a very tough opponent in Wilson who has been known to upset the betting on more than one occasion, and Arbuthnot's crew will have to work to win. Turner is a particularly powerful 3, though a little slow with his "hands" and recovery. Purser has improved greatly of late in his body swing and forward reach, and Paris is a Keat bow with a smart recovery and lots of work. Harvey-Kelly and Gilroy in the opposing crew are both hard-workers with plenty of previous rowing experience who will back up Wilson well and Meredith is a neat bow oar, especially with his hands, but he rows his blade through too deeply which takes very off his boat. In the Eights, the R. A. M. C. have a very useful crew indeed, as their fine stern oars are all trained men; and they should win fardly easily, but the combined British Infantry and Sappers Eight, if they defeat the Gunners on Saturday, ought to hunt the Doctors home under the leadership of Arbuthnot. The Gunners, with Purser at stroke, have had to make a late change in their crew which has put them back a bit, but they are a willing crew with plenty of energy. The Indian Army Eight is a dark horse, as it has rarely appeared on Kirkee waters, but Wilson is stroking the boat and that always means a tough race for his opponents.

In the Junior Regimental Fours, the Lincolnshire and Gunners crews are perhaps the favourites with Teall and Reed stroking respectively; but there again the Baluch Four is an unknown quantity which is rumoured to be capable of great deeds. The Loyal North Lancashire Crew has four very willing, though not all very graceful, oars to push their boat along; and as the race is rowed in heavy boats where style is of less account than in light boats, they may get home first. Pelly in the L. N. Lancs. crew is shaping particularly well. A Doctor's Junior Four has also entered for the race, but they also cannot be accused of style without exaggeration.

In the Pairs, the chief interest lies in seeing what the Madras pair (Barber-Hignett) will do against the Poona pairs (Wilson-Turner) (Langrishe-Leahy) (Gilroy-Startin); of whom the middle pair are probably favourites.

In the Senior Sculls there is also an outside interest, as both Bombay and Madras have made entries. Madeley is representing Madras and has won the Open Sculls there two or three times, while the Bombay man is reported to have entered for the "Diamonds," so that Teal and Leahy will have to look to uphold the honour of Poona. The race is open to any sculler in best boats, and as Madeley has brought his own boat along, which is a very light one, the odds would seem to be on his winning, though the Bombay man is a dark horse. There is little to choose between the two Poona men. Leahy defeated Teal last year, but Teal was seedy; and the two if they meet, should have a very even race. For the Junior Sculls, there is a good entry, but prophecy would be rash, though the winner might be found amongst Holmes, Walker or Boyce. The Junior Pairs is also a very open race.

The Regatta will be followed by a dinner to the visiting crews and a dance at Rosherville.

NAGOBA CATTLE SHOW.

THE Nagoba Cattle Show, in connection with the Nagoba Cattle Fair, was held from the 18th to 21st December. In giving a short description of the show, it will be found interesting to say something about the place and the tradition attached to it. Nagoba, it may be stated, is neither a village nor an ordinary place of habitation. It is a large open plain situated in the Man Taluka in the Satara District, about 43 miles by road from the Koregaon Railway station. It has a solitary shrine, which is the centre of the annual pilgrimage of the "Dhangars" (shepherds). Tradition hath it that a certain Dhangar by name Nagoba had hundred of years ago lived and acted in a manner which had raised him in the estimation of his fellow Dhangars to the status of a Saint and as usual, the world over, this Saint has a shrine here dedicated to him and the class of Dhangars make it a duty annually to do homage before this Saint in the way of sacrifice of sheep at the shrine and a large cattle fair is held, where about 10,000 to 15,000 animals are brought from nearly the whole of the Bombay Presidency. Government has taken advantage of this fair to establish an Annual Cattle Show at the place with the object of encouraging the improvement of the Khillari breed of cattle which are so well known in this Presidency and which make excellent all round working cattle, both for plough and road. This breed of cattle is mostly found in the Man valley in the Sangola and Pandharpur talukas of the Sholapur District, the Atpadi Mahals of the Oundh state as also in the Gath state and parts of Khandesh. Both the fair and the show this year were not so well represented as in the previous years, owing to prevalence of plague in the adjoining villages, with the result that only 260 animals competed against 339 in the last year. The description of the different classes of cattle and the prizes awarded is given below. In the class for the Khillari bulls over 3 years, suitable for breeding, there were 66 entries against 104 last year. Dyanue Tookaram Jadhav being the owner of the first prize of Rs. 40, although it must be said that the animal was not of the highest type. In class for young Khillari bulls, 2 years and under, there were 63 entries against 69 last year, the winner of the first prize of Rs. 30 in this class was Rama Krishna Lavad. As there was no thoroughly typical bull shown in the class, the large silver medal offered by the Government of Bombay was not awarded. In class, for Khillari cows in calf or with calf at foot, there were 39 entries against 73 last year. In this class although the number was comparatively small, the first 3 animals were excellent and the lucky recipient of the first prize of Rs. 30, Bali Dajt Gaikwad from the Pandharpur taluka was also awarded the smaller silver medal of the Government of Bombay for the best cow in the show. The class for heifers, 2 years, and 3 years old was exceedingly poor. The class for pairs was not good, but the first prize of Rs. 30 was awarded to one Kondi Krishna. In the class for single bullocks, with the exception of 2 or 3 the others were very mediocre. First prize of Rs. 20, for which, went to Amritrao Ramji Powar. The show is supported mainly by the Government, who contributes Rs. 500 in cash with 2 silver medals, the District Local Board of Satara give a grant of Rs. 250. Owing, however, to the small number of cattle competing and their not coming up to the necessary standard, prizes aggregating Rs. 625 only, out of Rs. 750, were awarded. The Judging Committee consisted of the following:—Mr. J. D. Buxy, Veterinary Inspector, Central Division, as President, the Patels of Mardi and Bhalavdi as members.

Mr. Bhalerao, the Mamlatdar of Man, spared no pains in making the show a success, as far as it was possible.

THE WEATHER.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SIMLA, JAN. 14.

The disturbed conditions yesterday in Baluchistan and Rajputana have spread over the Punjab and have been fairly general but light. Precipitation has occurred in Kashmir and Baluchistan and a light local rainfall in the Punjab and the North-West of the United Provinces. The forecast shows a fairly general snowfall in Kashmir; local precipitation in the east and north of the Punjab and the west of the United Provinces.

SIMLA, JAN. 15.

Unsettled weather has appeared in Persia and is spreading eastwards towards Baluchistan, but, in northern India, the conditions to-day are less disturbed. Precipitation has been nearly general in the east and north Punjab and fairly general in Kashmir and the west of the United Provinces. Sonemarg reports eighteen inches of snow, Srinagar, ten inches; Simla, one and a half inches equivalent of snow and rain; Dehra-Dun, one and a half inches of rain; Sialkot and Roorkee, one inch; Lahore and Ambala three quarters of an inch.

The forecast shows some precipitations in Baluchistan, but none of importance elsewhere.

BOMBAY DAILY WEATHER REPORT FOR THE 14TH JANUARY.

Summary of observations recorded at 8 hours on Saturday, the 14th January, giving data for the preceding 24 hours.

The Punjab.—Lahore reports 0·21" of rain and Delhi 0·13." Skies are heavily clouded. Humidity is normal or in excess. Maximum temperature is in defect in the south-west Punjab; the minimum continues in excess over the whole division.

The United Provinces.—Skies are lightly to moderately clouded. The air is generally damper than usual. Day temperature is normal; night temperature continues in excess at most stations.

Sind and Rajputana.—Skies are clear in Sind and moderately to heavily clouded in Rajputana. Humidity is in defect in lower Sind and in excess elsewhere. Maximum temperature is in defect in Sind and normal in Rajputana; the minimum is in excess except at Karachi.

Gujarat, Kathiawar and Central India West.—Skies are lightly to moderately clouded. The moisture in the air is either equal to or above the average. Both day and night temperature are in excess in west Central India. Day temperature is higher than usual in south Kathiawar while night temperature is above normal at Bhavnagar Para and Deesa.

The Central Provinces.—Skies are moderately clouded. Humidity and minimum temperature are generally in excess. Maximum temperature is normal.

The Konkan.—Skies are moderately clouded. The moisture in the air and temperature are equal to the average.

The Bombay Deccan and Hydersabad.—Skies are lightly to moderately clouded. Humidity is normal. Both maximum and minimum temperatures are in excess at most stations.

General Remarks.—An area of low pressure is shown to-day over the region between Bikaner and Lahore. Local rain has fallen in the Punjab. Skies have cleared in Sind but are heavily clouded in the Punjab and moderately clouded in Rajputana. Weather is disturbed in Persia also.

Local showers are likely in the Punjab; isolated showers may possibly occur in Rajputana.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The reading of the barometer at the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 32° F. and for Calcutta standard at 8 a. m. (local time) on the 14th January was 29·959 inches. The height of Observatory barometer cistern above zero of the tide gauge at Apollo Bunder is 47 feet. The height of tide in the stream above zero of the tide gauge was 14 feet at 8 a.m. (local time). BY THE WAY.

"DUST AND CHAFF."

The Continental Press has our deepest sympathy. It finds great difficulty in forecasting the consequences of the General Election. So do we. It "gropes and gathers dust and chaff." So do our Radical friends. A good deal of dust has arisen as the result of the expenditure of two millions of the taxpayers' money, and practically nothing else is there that we can point to as the fruits thereof. We have eaten the apples of Sodom, and find them to be nothing but grit. We have ploughed the sands, and scarcely left a furrow behind us. But the Continental Press also stirs our sympathy in its insistence on the value of a genuine Upper House. The French, for example, will not soon forget how their Senate stepped in when the Chamber was for making foolhardy reductions in the period of training recruits, which would have reduced the army to a mob. The Chamber was considering the selfish outcries of their constituents. The Senate, being above such considerations, did the right and patriotic thing. It is of such safeguards that shortsighted persons would deprive us. But if they think the country has given them a mandate for this, they to "gather dust and chaff."

A PEDIGREE FROM ADAM.

In view, no doubt, of the highly interesting ceremony at Carnarvon next year, the members of a Welsh society have been tracing the descent of the Royal Family. They find that it goes back to Adam if traced through Welsh lines. The pedigree is duly set forth. Additional meaning is thereby infused into Fuellen's proud boast. "All the water in Wye cannot wash your Majesty's Welsh plood out of your pody." Unfortunately, we are not told whether the pedigree runs through the primitive Welshmen, short, sturdy, and dark people, or through the invading Celts, tall, light-haired, and blue-eyed. Whichever it was, immense credit is due to them for so carefully preserving the pedigree "tab initio" of the Royal Family which can now look down upon the Emperors of Japan who only go back a mere matter of 2,500 years as well as on the still more illustrious Macpherson clan which has no records older than the Flood.

A GRIM JOKE.

It is hardly necessary to treat "au grand serieux" Mr. Plowden's suggestion that criminals condemned to the gallows should first be flagged, as a deterrent to crime. The idea is so utterly repugnant to the most elementary feelings of humanity that we cannot imagine the wise and witty magistrate to have been in a solemn mood when he proposed it. Yet even this lenient view lands us in grave difficulties, for of all subjects the launching of a fellow creature into the unseen world is least fitted for jocular treatment. It is all very well for Sir W. S. Gilbert to jest about "boiling oil." The whole atmosphere of the musical comedy in which that expression occurs is so obviously unreal that the idea does not jar on the feelings. But there is a stern reality about the gallows, and any attempt to play with that sternness is too painfully suggestive of Louis XI. and Plessis-le-Tours.

GREENWICH TRIUMPHANT.

It is quite a feather—a cook's feather—in the cap of Greenwich that the French Chamber has resolved to give up the forwardness of the clocks in France and abide by the decisions of the great Observatory clock. Greenwich time is looked up to now by nearly all the countries of the world. It is recognised as the world's centre, the hub of the horological universe, the throne of the old Greek god Father Kronos. The hearts of nearly all clocks will now beat in harmony with this great heart of the world. Already the reign of universal peace seems to be foreshadowed when the war-drum throbs no longer, but the clock-tick pescefully takes up the tune. Here at last we have "the long result of time," the climax of the ages.

THE RING AND THE LOCK.

The matrons of New Jersey (who are, we understand, the American equivalent to Mr. Dobson's "The Ladies of St. James's") are organising a monster campaign against those gay "deceivers ever" who, [illegible] refuse to bear the outward badge or though woo, [illegible]tion. In other words under stigma of their con[illegible] the auspices of the Cupid's Wing Club, a Bill is being prepared to guard, in the words of the "Daily Mail," "our daughters against the wiles of married men who masquerade as bachelors." If the Bill becomes law, the crawling and reptillious transgressor must pay fine of £100 or suffer two years' imprisonment if he is caught without a ring—on his thumb! Why the thum? Is the lot of the American husband so easy, is his yoke so light, that such artificial discomfort has to be imposed upon him? Of course, there are communities were engagement and wedding rings are obligatory for men as for women, and we have never heard that finger stalls were common there.

CHEESE REINSTATED.

Nothing illustrates better the fact that civilisation moves not in a steady, straight line but in recurring circles than the popularity of cheese. Its virtues were fully recognised in old days. Zoroaster lived on it and nothing else during his twenty years' sojourn in the desert. The early Christians are nothing else for a week before Lent, counting on its superb nutritive power to support them through that trying period. Later on, Venice sent presents of Parmesan to the Viziers of Constantinople, and in [Shakespeare's time] so well was if appreciated as an article of food that there were men who could "live with cheese and garlic in a windmill." After a long period of comparative neglect its value is now becoming more appreciated, but there is a great deal of leeway to make up. Not long ago attempts were made to win our army over to its love, but our army declined, and the suspicion is still widely prevalent that even a Prime Coated Berkshire Five is far from digestible. The falsity of all this is being shown by the American Department of Agriculture by means of very careful scientific test on living subjects. These have proved that "cheese is digested very thoroughly by the average individual," and is a splendid food.

DANCING AND OLD AGE.

The Paris Academy of Dancing recommends itself to the public by representing that the elegant art conduces to longevity, and instances are given where several famous dancers have attained to a great age. We are always a little suspicious of these aids to longevity. At one time sea-angling contains within itself the secret of perpetual youth, then it is cycling then golf, then sour milk, then sour apples. We even know of one denomination which expressly frowns on dancing whose members certainly live long enough to satisfy the most exacting. But to this no one may hesitate to commit himself that dancing in a not too crowded room is an excellent exercise in winter, and has a very marked effect on the bodily health. Of course, the heavy partner has a more beneficial effect than the sylph. This is the silver lining to the heavy cloud.

"MUMPING DAY."

St. Thomas's Day is the festival on which poor folk in many country districts visit the houses of their richer neighbours to get the means of enjoying themselves at Christmastide. This custom they call "going a gooding," "corning," or "Thomasing"; while the anniversary is variously styled "Doleing Day" and "Mumping Day." Mumping means asking alms, and the work "mumpers" is used for beggars by Addison. In some Worcestershire villages the children go about on St. Thomas's Day begging for apples, and singing. Those who receive money or other gifts on these occasions sometimes reciprocate by presenting the donors with sprigs of holly or mistletoe.

LONG-DISTANCE TELEGRAPHY.

For several years the world's record for long-distance telegraphy was held by the East European Telegraph Company for direct working between Manchester, London, and Teheran, a distance of 4,000 miles, says a writer in the "People's Friend," This record has recently been surpassed by the same company and it is now possible to signal messages, without the necessity for retransmission, from London to Calcutta, 7,000 miles away, and vice-versa. It is a far cry from the Thames to the Hugli, yet slung between two continents, across half a dozen alien lands, a slender bridge of wire spans the gulf of time and space.

LUXURY FOR THE SKIN.

"THE ALBION MILK and SULPHUR SOAP,' pleasant to use and whitens and softens the skin writes Lady Constance Howard. Countess of Westmeath says: "It gives much satisfaction." The ALBION MILK and SULPHUR SOAP is a highly agreeable and beneficial Luxury for the Toilet Bath and Nursery and leaves the skin in a pure, refreshed and healthy condition, delicately perfumed. Chemists, Grocers, etc., sell it.

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

SNAKE CHARMING.

Snake charming has, doubtless, been the subject of much exaggeration. So much so has this been the case that many people have ceased to believe that there is anything in it. If, however, one accepts the account of some recent snake charming at Cawnpore, communicated by Mr. L. Ewart to the "Field," it is a sufficiently astonishing performance. It is, of course, well known that the snakes carried about in baskets by the itinerant performers have had their fangs extracted, and, therefore, can be handled with impunity. But when a snake-charmer came to Mr. Ewart's compound, the latter said he wished to see the charming of the serpeant in its native haunts, and with poison fangs intact.

THE DANGER OF IT.

After some persuasion the man was induced to go out and pipe for snakes. He walked about for some time playing his pipes, and talking to the snakes. Mustard was also strewed on the ground. At length a large cobra came out of the cactus bushes. The man made a dart to catch the reptile by the neck, but it was too quick for him, and bit his finger. Immediately he squeezed the blood out of his finger, applied the snakestone to the spot, and swallowed some white stuff. Then he seized the cobra by the tail, covered its head with a duster, and held it down with a stick. Finally, it was put into a large earthenware jar and secured. Then the man was very ill for about 15 minutes.

THE MYSTERY OF THE SNAKESTONE.

There is a curious mystery about the snakestone. According to Mr. Ewart, who seems to have watched the whole process very carefully, the stone swelled up and stuck fast to the finger. Then the man asked for a bowl of milk, over which he held his finger, and into which the stone dropped, producing some curious effects on the liquid. One would like to know more about this wonderful stone, its nature, composition, &c. Is it natural or artificial? No stone which would thus swell up and stick to the finger is known to geologists. Quite possibly, however, the snakestone is merely a picturesque addition to round off the ceremony, and give it an air of mystery, while the snake-charmer really depends for his recovery on the squeezing out of the poison, and the white stuff swallowed.

THE REMEDY FOR SNAKE BITES.

And on several occasions Mr. Ewart saw a man bitten by a cobra, and using the same means, recover after being very ill. If one accepts the facts there seems no doubt as to the efficiency of the remedy, even if one cuts off the snakestone as a picturesque excrescence. There are still many deaths from snake bites in India, and much time and money have been spent in searching for a remedy. Anti-toxins have been prepared, and methods of injection used with more or less success. One has not heard of any quite so promptly efficient as those of the Cawnpore snake-charmers described by Mr. Ewart. Would it not be worth while to try and learn their secret?

DOES MUSIC CHARM?

Do snakes really appreciate and respond to the music of the charmer? The cobra mentioned above appeared to come out in response to the sound of the pipe, and Mr. Ewart saw the same thing repeated on several occasions. He also records an even more striking case. A cobra had been captured, and put in a jar. It was taken out, and put on the ground. At first, when the snake charmer played to it the cobra was furious, hissed, and tried to strike at him. But the player went on with his music, crouching on the ground, and gradually advancing towards the cobra, which retreated. It kept its head raised but gradually became quiet, and appeared, says Mr. Ewart, as if mesmerised. It swayed to the music, and made no further attempt at striking. Suddenly the man seized it by the neck, forced open its mouth, and extracted the poison fangs.

MARINE AEROPLANE.

Fabre's marine aeroplane is one of the most recent and ingenious of flying machines. It can navigate the water, rise from it, and descend on it. It has a chassis, or frame, on the plan of that of a bicycle. To the rear of this is fixed the principal lifting surface, or main plane with the engine behind it. In front are the horizontal and vertical rudders and balancing planes, and between these [illegible] the pilot's seat. This all rests on [illegible] and the engine [illegible] three hydroplane floats, one in front and two [illegible] the main plane. The machine has passed its trials, the first flight having taken place on March 28 last. It runs along water, rises in the air for its flight, and descends to the water again. The great advantage of the latter is that if, through some accident, the machine descends too quickly it is not smashed to pieces and the aviator killed as would happen on land. When the marine aeroplane thus came down on one occasion the pilot was merely thrown into the water and the machine very slightly injured. If it alights on a meadow it can move along, the hydroplanes acting as skids. It is hoped to perfect a device whereby the marine aeroplane can take its flight also from the land. The machine is described and figured in the "Scientific American."

THE AGE OF THE EARTH.

One of the most interesting results of Mr. G. F. Becker's summing up of recent investigations as to the age of the earth is the general agreement in the figures arrived at by different methods. "These," as Mr. Becker says, "seem to be mutually confirmatory, and to give results which converge towards some value near 60 or perhaps 65 million years." And these figures approach more nearly to the time allowed by Lord Kelvin from physical consideration than to the practically unlimited period demanded by some evolutionists.

HALLEY'S ANTICIPATION.

One of the methods of estimating the age of the earth is by dividing the amount of salt in the ocean by that yearly carried in by the rivers of the globe. And Mr. Becker draws attention to the remarkable fact that 200 years ago, the famous astronomer Halley suggested a way of determining the age of the earth from the saltness of the ocean. If, he said, we determine the quantity of salt in the sea, and then some centuries after make a second determination, "we may by the rule of proportion take an estimate of the whole time wherein the water would acquire the degree of saltness we at present find in it."

THE FOOD MANUFACTURER.

Professor Bailey, of the University of Kansas, has been investigating the question "when food becomes a luxury," and brings to light certain startling facts which show "where the money goes" in the households of those provided with but slender purses. He points out that an extensive change is taking place in the dietary of the American people. This is largely accounted for by the difficulty of getting efficient servants—a difficulty not entirely confined to the Americans. But to them the servant problem has become so acute that the worried housewife has come to depend more and more upon the food manufacturer; for by using his goods she finds it possible to diminish the labour of the household. All possible work is now done outside the home, and this applies to more than food, and is rapidly extending to all articles of domestic use. The "oam," the package, the box, the "carton," now take the place of the purchases in bulk that composed the marketing of former days. And the customer does not realise either the real weight of the contents of his package, or its value as a food. He may think he is getting a pound's weight, but it may be only ten ounces. He cannot tell at what rate he is paying for his goods. Fruits, pickles, vegetables, crackers, cereals, syrups, meats, fish, vinegar, spices, milk, cheese, butter, jams, jellies, and dried eggs are now among the foods to be purchased in the package. It is fully recognised that the new method is more sanitary than the old. Dust, dirt, and possible infection are minimised. But the great disadvantage is the increase in cost. You buy, for example, your bottle of vinegar for fifteen cents. But you are paying at the rate of sixty cents a gallon for what costs in bulk, but twenty-five or thirty cents. But it is in the cereals prepared for the breakfast-table that the customer is being most unmercifully fleeced. The Bulletin of the Maine Agricultural Experimental Station has shown this clearly enough. It takes the prices of such commodities as grape nuts, quaker oats, shredded wheat—we choose from about twenty such as are known to us "on this side"—and concludes that the bushel of wheat originally costing a dollar costs the housekeeper anything between five and twelve dollars when made into breakfast foods. Here, then food becomes a luxury. "Instead of using the oak and maple and pine for fuel, we are feeding the fire with mahogany, Circassian walnut, and rare imported woods."

DR. DE ROOS' MEDICINES HAVE AN UNRIVALLED REPUTATION OF OVER FIFTY YEARS.

DR. DE ROOS'
WORLD-FAMED
GUTTÆ VITÆ
Or, LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Exhaustion.

This extraordinary rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of life, imparting strength and manly vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from Premature Decay, or deficiency of the Vital Forces, owing to dissipation, worry, overwork, excesses, or any other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm; the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the Faculty as incurable, and left to drag out the remainder of their existence a misery to themselves, and a continual anxiety to their friends. In all cases of nervous and functional debility, epilepsy, impurity and weakness of the blood, aversion to and incapacity for society, study, or business, giddiness, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, loss of memory, and other symptoms, the result of self-acquired ailments that embitter and shorten life, it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incompetency. Price 11s. or four times that quantity, 33s. per Bottle.

Dr. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS for Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Diabetes, and all Kidney Affections; weakness or loss of Sandy or other Deposits, Discharges and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally. Price 2s. 9d.

Dr. DE ROOS' VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS, for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels; whilst as a universal family medicine for both sexes, and all ages, they are unequalled. Price 1s. 3d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

Dr. DE ROOS' PILE AND FISTULA OINTMENT, the only reliable remedy for these annoying and painful ailments. The first dose gives relief, and in all ordinary cases a few days only are necessary to effect a cure. Price 2s. 9d. per Box.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. DE ROOS' Medicines bears the British Government Stamp, with the words, "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," impressed thereon in white letters on a red ground, and refuse worthless imitations frequently put forward by unscrupulous vendors for the sake of extra profit.

DEBILITATED and NERVOUS SUFFERERS should read the "Medical Adviser," by Dr. DE ROOS, on the secret causes of nervous debility, impotency, depression of spirits, and confirmed melancholy. Price 1s., post free from Mr. LAWES, Medical Publisher, 7 Hand Court, Holborn, London, W.C., or obtainable of the Agents for Dr. DE ROOS' Medicines.

DR. DE JONGH'S
KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM
KNIGHT OF THE LEGION OF HONOUR
LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL

THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE.
THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be
The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.

"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.

"I have convinced myself that in Tubercula, and the various forms of Strumous Disease, DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE Esq., M.R.C.S.,
Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Royal Naval Institution, London.

"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognized, and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils, cod fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH puts it in everyone's reach, a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."

DR. R. C. CRAFT,
Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."

"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to digest it more comfortably."

Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is Supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with Brown Patent Capsules impressed on the top with DR. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and wearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures.
WITHOUT THESE MARKS NONE CAN POSSIBLY BE GENUINE.
